Assessments increase 2 to 15 percent in city

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Residential property assessments are increasing for the majority of communities in Wayne County, including Romulus.

Matthew Raftary, director of city assessments, presented an overview Monday of the Wayne County Assessment and Equalization report, showing residential assessment increases in Romulus range from 2 to 15 percent.

"After conducting our own in-house sales ratio study, we concluded that the overall increases for the residential property class should be no greater than 7.5 percent," Raftary said. "These figures are being passed down from the county and state. We met with county officials to discuss the results of our study, and they have accepted our conclusions as to the average level of assessment for residential properties to be 46.51 percent."

The required increases in assessment will be spread based on neighborhood and location within the city, according to Raftary.

"The sales utilized in our study are between the second quarter of 1988 to the first quarter of 1990 as mandated by state law," Raftary said. "These sales indicate that when compared to the assessed values of the properties sold that the average residential property is assessed at 46.51 percent of market value. State law requires assessments to be at 50 percent of market value, hence, the need for an overall 7.5 percent increase."

Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear wanted to know why certain areas in the city are increasing more than others.

"People are willing to pay more money in other areas," Raftary said. "The key is to look at what the value of the property is. We're not raising taxes, we're raising the assessed market value."

Mayor Beverly McAnally reminded residents and the council that the city has never levied more money than what was needed for operation of the city, as other cities do.

"Many other cities have millions of dollars set aside for a rainy day fund," McAnally said. "Should that (assessment) generate more than required for budgetary needs, we take pride in rolling back the millage, and we have done that in the past."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry questioned whether or not a prior acquisition of a sewer system near the airport is now lost because of the airport expansion.

"Back in 1961 or 1962, we bought X number of cubic feet into the sewer system based on the development of the city," Raspberry said. "Now with the airport expanding, the potential for all of the above has been lost by virtue of the airport acquiring the land. There is a potential loss in sewer treatment, loss in revenue."

Raspberry made a motion to ask the city administration to come up with a figure of potential city revenue loss because

Resident crosses bridge

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

After more than 10 years of fighting Wayne County officials to take responsibility for a damaged bridge that is allegedly the result of county construction of the Interstate-94 interchange near Huron River Drive, a Romulus resident may soon be getting a helping hand.

Joseph Gyorkos owns a house at 38650 Huron River Drive where he has a bridge constructed over a drain which runs west and south of the interchange. Gyorkos hasn't been able to use his bridge since the interchange construction because of water damage.

After talking over the phone and sending letters to state representatives, county commissioners, county drain officials and county road officials, Gyorkos received the same answer over and over, "the deterioration of the bridge is due to age and not excess drainage flow, and the maintenance and repair of the bridge belongs to the property owner."

"The ditch wasn't that big prior to the I-275 construction," Gyorkos said. "The county cleared the ditch to the road in 1990 late in the summer early fall."

"The water in the fall now

Romulus resident Joseph Gyorkos stands next to the bridge he claims has been ruined by the water flow from the Interstate-94/I-275 interchange near Huron River Drive. County officials, however, disagree, comes out of the ditch near the house. There use to be clay in the ditch underneath which keeps the water from flowing. Now the clay has all been washed away."

Walking around the bend of the ditch, there is a rapid water movement which ends at Huron River Drive and clogs up the rest of the water flow. The water is flowing from a pump facility near the interchange, according to Gyorkos.

"All the water is draining from I-275 from Eureka and I-94 and the railroad bridge, the intersection," Gyorkos said. "The drain is pumped by a five- to 14-inch pipe to a big ditch I was told is around 20 feet deep and 40 inches wide from pumps to Northline and two big crocks about five feet or so drains into the small port of McBride drainage by light at Huron River Drive and Northline Road and by Kelsey Hayes."

The Gyorkos house is north of the creek and the water is so powerful that it runs over the top of the bridge carrying stone gravel. The bridge is sinking and being washed away, according to Gyorkos.

"The bridge has sunk over two feet and will collapse very soon," Gyorkos said. "Two trees are ready to topple over because of the water damage. What the county created here is a pressurized river. They took tons and tons of soil out of here when they constructed

Council favors resolution

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus councilmembers gave the thumbs up March 4 to a resolution supporting the continuation of tax increment financing.

TIFA is one of the few remaining tools available to local government for building public improvements and supporting economic development.

Community Development Director Dennis Oakes presented the council with an update on Gov. John Engler's proposal to cut property taxes which could lead to reducing Downtown Development Authority funds to provide public infrastructure and create new private investments and future jobs.

"A couple of bills have been introduced in the House and Senate which will substantially reduce the ability of TIFAs and DDAs," Oakes said. "About 50 communities met in Taylor last week to discuss the status of the bills. What prompted this was Gov. Engler's property tax reduction proposal."

Oakes explained although a property tax reduction by reducing the Standard Equalized Valuation is desirable among many residents in Michigan, it could also lead to higher taxes in the long run which would only hurt communities.

"We're not worried about current TIFAs," Oakes said.

Belleville resident needs bone-marrow transplant

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

As the war in the Persian Gulf is settled, 14-year-old Ray Refitt of Belleville fights his own battle. His enemy is leukemia.

Refitt needs a bone-marrow transplant, without one he may die.

Time is ticking away, and Ray's mother Anna Wade and stepfather Brian Wade do not have the estimated $300,000 to pay for the operation.

"Ray has so much to live for," said Anna. "He has his ups and downs, but he's trying to maintain a positive outlook."

He currently receives treatment at University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Because a suitable donor for the transplant hasn't been found, doctors recommend an experimental operation in which Ray's bone marrow would be removed and cleansed before being placed back into his body.

The doctors want him to go to the University of Minnesota for this operation, according to Anna, a waitress at Johnson's Family Restaurant in Canton Township.

The Wades' health insurance will not cover the proposed operation in Minnesota, saying Ray should seek treatment at Harper Hospital in Detroit.

Although Ray has had cancer for six years, he felt well during the holidays.

Lately, he has felt the effects of his illness, often being poked for a spinal tap. Doctors at U of M Hospital have given him a 50-percent chance to live.

His chances decrease with each passing week, that's why collecting funds for his operation is so critical, according to Ginie Hauck, a family friend and coordinator of the collection drive.

So far, Canton and Belleville residents have donated $3,000 to "Ray's Lifeline" fund.

"I know we can do it," said Hauck.

Students and teachers at North Middle School in Belleville are among the many contributors. Canton Township school bus drivers also have given to the fund.

Students at North also gave their fellow student a Simpsons game and a big get-well card.

"People are really helping, but we need more help right away," said Anna. "I've never really asked for anything before. I even paid for my parking at the hospital until the hospital offered me a pass."

A dinner dance and auction to collect more funds will take place at 2 p.m. April 14 at the Belleville Moose Lodge.

Before moving to Belleville,

Ray and his mother lived in Canton Township, where Ray attended Field Elementary School and Lowell Middle School.

Anna credits a 4th-grade teacher with originally spotting a difference in her son. His pale facial appearance and inattentive behavior in class, which was unusual because of his strong academic skills, provided hints to his illness.

Anna also praises Leia Johnson, owner of Johnson's Family Restaurant, for providing collection canisters at the restaurant. Johnson often allows Ray to stay at the restaurant during his mother's shift.

Anna's husband, Brian, who cooks at Johnson's, has helped at home.

Area residents who wish to help Ray, may send tax-deductible checks payable to: Belleville Moose Lodge 934. Mail checks to: Ray's Lifeline,

Ray Refitt

P.O. Box 87948, Canton, Michigan 48187.

"We have a war we're trying to win, but we can't wage the war on cancer without the money," said Hauck.

Award deadline is near

March 25 is the deadline for nominations for the Congressman William D. Ford Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth. Originally offered in 1976 as part of the Bicentennial celebration, the awards program was so well received that it was recommended the award be presented each year.

Three awards will be available in each of the 20 communities in the 15th Congressional District which Ford represents. The first award will go to youth aged 14 through 18 who are students in senior high school. The second goes to youth aged 18 through 23 who are high school graduates. The third goes to youth groups with significant accomplishments.

The medals will personally be presented by Ford on May 5.

Nomination forms are available at Ford's district offices in Wayne, 722-1411, and Ypsilanti, 482-6636, and from committee members.

Donna Hall, a businesswoman in Belleville, will serve as chairwoman of the nominating committee.

Other local volunteers who serve on the committee include: Janet Millard of Belleville, Olan Barnes and Dale Smith of Canton Township, Vicki Lyons of Huron Township, Linda Choate of Romulus, Marvin Banotai of Sumpter Township, Fonie Butler and Jeanette Jakokes of Van Buren Township, Karen Drews of Wayne and Marge Gartz and Anita Cobb of Westland.

Richard Debs

Trial date is set for union chief

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

An April 24 trial date has been set for Richard Debs, former Ypsilanti United Auto Workers president, before Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Michael Talbot.

Debs, 53, of Westland was arrested last month by Wayne police and charged with criminal sexual conduct after visiting a Wayne home Nov. 6. He allegedly sexually assaulted a 12-year-old boy, according to Wayne police.

Debs was bound over Dec. 17 on four counts of breaking and entering with intent to conduct criminal sexual conduct, in the first degree, carrying a concealed weapon and impersonating a police officer.

On Feb. 15, Debs' attorney, Jerry Dorsey, withdrew his guilty plea before Talbot. An agreement would have allowed Debs to plead guilty to the sexual assault charge in exchange for prosecutors dropping three of the charges, according to Wayne police Lt. Kerry Webb, who conducted the investigation.

Webb said a sentencing agreement of seven to 15 years was made in exchange for the plea.

The plea was withdrawn by Dorsey because Talbot wasn't satisfied with the sentencing agreement, according to a Detroit Recorder's Court official.

Wayne Deputy Safety Director John Colligan said Debs, if found guilty, could receive a life sentence for criminal sexual conduct in the first degree.

Last year Debs was sentenced to a 46-month prison term for his role in tampering with an union election. He was convicted of violating the Hobbs Act when he attempted to prevent a union member from opposing him in an election.

The former Van Buren Township police commander was sentenced to the 46-month term by U.S. District Court Judge Patrick Duggan. He will also serve a concurrent term for firearm possession.

More residents pitching in to recycling

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

More and more Romulus residents are pitching in to recycle.

Since the Romulus recycling center opened last August, the number of cars which drop off recyclables at City Hall has increased from 100 to 300, according to Jeffrey Martell, community development coordinator.

"We've been getting a tremendous response from the residents," Martell said. "We are thinking of having two days each month for recycling in the summer. Possibly the second and fourth Saturday of each month in the summer."

Martell is checking into establishing a second recycling site on the south end of town to make it more feasible for those residents.

Romulus officials are still in need of volunteers to staff the drop-off center, especially if a second site is opened in the near future. Anyone interested can call 942-7592.

"Volunteers assist the public with the intake of recyclables and sort the materials at each bin," Martell said.

City officials are in the midst of formalizing a three-year solid waste plan which may or may not include curb-side recycling. Martell will soon be making a solid waste presentation to councilmembers for their approval.

The dates for recycling before summer will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. March 9, April 13 and May 11.

A few rules and regulations for dropping off recyclables include:

- Plastic mill and water jugs, laundry detergent, bottles or any plastic container with "PET" or "HDPE" stamped on the bottom are accepted. Plastics must all be rinsed and the caps removed.

- Glass clear, brown and green food and beverage jars and bottles are accepted. All glass must be rinsed and the lids removed. The lids may be added to the aluminum and tin jars.

- Aluminum or tin cans accepted include soup, vegetable, tuna fish, jar lids, pie plates or crumpled foil. The aluminum and tin cans must be rinsed and the labels removed. These recyclables must also be flattened, if possible.

- No glossy newspaper inserts, magazines, phone books or envelopes.

- Car, boat, truck, motorcycle and various household batteries are accepted.

"Dumping fees at the River-view Municipal Landfill have doubled, so recycling plays an important part in reducing our costs," Martell said. "By recycling, we not only save taxpayers' money, but we save our environment, too."

Groups reap rewards of Crop Walk effort

A couple of Romulus non-profit organizations are now reaping the rewards of the 1990 Crop Walk to feed the hungry, which was staged last October.

Carolyn Landis, chairwoman of the Crop Walk, recently presented a $648 check to the Romulus Help Center, which was raised as a result of the walk.

"We're very pleased to be presenting this check," Landis said. "We had a number of residents help out, but we're hoping more will come out and walk at this year's Crop Walk."

More than $10,000 was collected by 150 participants in the Crop Walk from five churches in Belleville and the Romulus Methodist Church. The Help Center portion of the funds will be used toward a number of programs, according to Doug Plant, clinical services supervisor for the Help Center.

"The money is already earmarked for assistance with seniors, the hungry, shelters and other kinds of relief needs," Plant said. "It will probably last only six months."

About 75 to 100 Romulus families use the Help Center, Plant said. Another 56 individuals who depend on the Center are involved with the senior program.

"We also provide a prevention program," Plant said. "We serve, however, residents outside of Romulus. Residents from Inkster, Belleville, Van Buren and other communities come for assistance to this Help Center."

The Help Center has been receiving funds from the Crop Walk for more than eight years. The non-profit organization was first built in Romulus in 1971.

Money from the walk was also donated to the Romulus Helping Hand Thrift Shop, Belleville Emergency Closet and St. Vincent De Paul.

Crop Walk T-shirts paid for by 18 businesses in the community were handed out to each participant along with buttons and posters. In 1989, about 1,114 communities in Michigan collected more than $1 million through Crop Walks.

the interchange."

In addition to the damage to the bridge, water also seeped into the basement of the Gyorkos home. Gyorkos said at one time the basement was flooded with seven inches of water.

The basement is still leaking today, and Gyorkos has a vacuum pump in place by the drain.

"The whole floor is cracked," Gyorkos said. "Water is going to ruin this whole house. I have to pump out water every day."

After a recent Jan. 17 county meeting staged at the Central Maintenance Yard to discuss the Gyorkos problem, Jack Durbin, deputy director of public works for Wayne County, concluded the bridge deterioration was due to age, not water damage.

"The fact that the bridge construction was not of high quality to begin with," Durbin said. "There is no evidence that any excess flow has caused an increase in the rate of deterioration of the bridge."

On Nov. 28, Michael Schermesser, department manager of the Wayne County Public Works Division, informed Gyorkos the repair is his problem, but he could contact the permit division for information on how to do the work himself, or have a contractor replace the bridge.

All Gyorkos wants from the county is to have more crocks put in to decrease the water flow and to have his bridge repaired.

Although Gyorkos has been hitting every dead end at the county, he didn't give up. Now, Shirley Poling, interim Wayne County commissioner, has decided to take matters into her own hands and try to solve the drain problem.

"I'm trying to pursue a remedy," Poling said. "I walked the drain, the ditch, with Mr. Gyorkos, and I'm in full support of his problem. I'm going to communicate with State Representative Jim Kosteva to inform him that this constituent has a legitimate complaint. I can definitely see signs of water erosion."

Poling could see that the rapid flow of the water crumbled the bridge on the ends.

"It's obvious the bridge was never intended to bear that weight from the water flow," Poling said. "Various county officials have said the bridge deteriorated because of age, but the rest of the bridge remains in tact. The bridge is falling apart because the foundation is crumbling."

Poling is going to discuss the problem with county engineers and Kosteva in the hopes of finally making some headway into solving the water problem and rebuilding Gyorkos bridge.

"We need to take the responsibility for his bridge," Poling said.

of the county purchasing land for the airport expansion such as loss of sewer taps, and to come back to the council with those figures, which will be forwarded to the county commissioners for negotiations.

Councilmembers gave full support for the motion. Councilman Ellis Pennington was pleased someone in the state government was taking the bull by the horns in regards to lowering property taxes.

"Where our taxes go isn't the bottom line," Pennington said. "The bottom line is when I get my tax bill. When I have to pay $150 a month to live in the city, something is wrong. When is it going to stop. As seniors on a fixed income, where are we going to get the money to pay?"

"It's going to stop when we tax every senior citizen out of this city. That's when it's going to stop."

Councilman Noah P. Bergeron cautioned councilmembers

Councilmembers debate need for cemetery price hikes

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus councilmembers asked Clerk Linda Choate to do more leg work on why city cemetery fee costs should be increased for residents interested in buying the service.

Choate presented councilmembers with a proposal Feb. 25 to increase the grave cost from $225 to $400 due to inflation.

"A review of grave opening and closing costs in the Romulus Memorial Cemetery indicates that the city's cost far exceeds the fees charged for those service and an immediate increase is necessary," Choate said.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry had a few concerns for the seniors who may be interested in buying the graves and the price tag that might go with it.

"My thoughts are the citizens who live and pay taxes here should be treated a little different," Raspberry said. "We're a working-class community, and I think we should take a look at the rate for residents and non-residents."

Choate explained only residents can buy the graves because they are city owned. Residents who have relatives living outside the city, however, can still buy graves for those individuals, Choate said.

"The last fee increase was in 1981," Choate said. "Since that time, union wages paid to DPW workers have increased significantly."

Choate did not recommend any price hikes for burial of babies or cremations. She did, however, suggest a perpetual fund be established for maintenance costs.

"I recommend $50 of the $400 be placed in a perpetual-care fund which wouldn't be touched," Choate said. "Eventually in the next 10 to 20 years, no more graves will be for sale, and this fund will then cover the maintenance costs."

About 11 lots, 30 feet wide are available, according to Choate. Councilmembers decided to table the matter for consideration in order for Choate to gather more information.

2 men sought in robbery

Romulus police are looking for two black male suspects who were allegedly involved in the robbery of a Belleville resident.

According to police, the resident was opening his business March 1 on the 29000 block of Airport Road.

The resident, 29, got out of his car and was about to open the door of his establishment when he was approached by two men, according to police detective Lt. Kenneth Kraus.

"The victim said the one black male, armed with a chrome handgun, took his wallet and briefcase," Kraus said. "The wallet was later found in the area with the money missing."

Both suspects are described as medium build in their twenties.

One male has short hair and was last seen wearing blue jeans and a black sweat jacket.

The other suspect was also wearing blue jeans and a jeans jacket.

The Belleville resident told police the suspects ran behind his building and entered a vehicle, fleeing in an unknown direction.

The resident was unable to obtain a description of the car, police said.

Anyone with information on the incident should call 941-8400.

"Our concern is if we lose the DDAs and TIFAs altogether, we'll be in bad shape."

"The problem is money they are reimbursing is creating a tax base, so there's a short-term gain, but a long-term loss."

Romulus and other communities in the state have successfully used TIFAs to build new roads, water and sewer systems, which have allowed substantial private investments to be made along with increasing job opportunities, according to Oakes.

"The communities urged we contact our state legislators and the governor's office to express our support for TIFAs," Oakes said. "This is currently one of the few remaining methods of financing needed for public improvements."

City officials will send the resolution to Engler, state Sen. William Faust, state Rep. James Kosteva and a number of other legislators.

Medicare checks released

By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

After a nationwide uproar, the federal government has released $75 million of appropriated Medicare contingency funds.

Earlier this month, insurance companies which process Medicare claims ordered a slowdown after the Office of Management and Budget withheld $131 million of Medicare funds.

"The released amount appears to be sufficient to handle additional claims in 1991 and benefit changes in regulations," said Rudolph Difazio, media relations director of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan.

Other funds originally allocated have been earmarked for other projects.

In January, Health Care Financing Administration officials told Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan and other Medicare contractors to plan a slowdown of processing Medicare claims.

After learning of government officials' action, Wayne County Commissioners adopted a resolution Feb. 14, urging the U.S. Congress and President George Bush to release the funds.

The Michigan Association of Counties adopted a similar resolution, according to Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Inkster).

As volunteer chairwoman of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Advisory Council, Beard learned of the federal decision to withhold the Medicare funds, which would have negatively impacted insurance providers and Medicare patients.

Without the release of the funds, senior citizens would have probably paid for their visits to a doctor's office or hospital up front, she said.

THE FIRST PART OF THE BODY THAT MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY AFFECTS.

It's hard to smile when you lose the ability to walk. To play. To draw pictures. To climb a tree.

But that's what happens when a child has muscular dystrophy.

"Muscular dystrophy" is the name for a group of diseases that weaken and destroy the muscles. The disorders are progressive, so things get worse over time. The muscle loss can't be stopped. And it can't be reversed.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is striving to cure muscular dystrophy. And on Christmas Eve of 1987, MDA researchers announced a landmark advance: discovery of the cause of the most terrible form of muscular dystrophy, Duchenne.

Now a giant step toward curing these dread diseases has been taken. And MDA researchers are forging ahead, racing to save the children stricken today.

MDA receives no government grants or fees for services — its work is funded entirely by private donations. You can help MDA fight muscular dystrophy and dozens of other muscle diseases by sending a tax-deductible contribution today.

Don't wait until a child's smile reminds you of all the children who have stopped smiling. Please send your donation today.

History of Van Buren Township, hometown newspaper intertwined

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Explored by the French in the early 1600s, and settled by pioneers in the early 1800s, the Belleville area - Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township and the city of Belleville - is rich in history.

On Jan. 28, 1835 - two years before Michigan became a state - Van Buren Township was organized. The public act creating Van Buren Township took effect on April 6 of the same year with the stipulation that the first township meeting was to be held at the school house, between the dwelling houses of Abraham Soop and Scot Vining.

The first township election was conducted shortly after, and Prosper Lawrence was elected as the first supervisor some 155 years ago. In 1875, $1,500 was appropriated for the construction of a one-story brick building to serve as a township hall. The local Grange Society was allowed to pay to add a second story to the partially constructed building to serve as a meeting place. The township hall, replaced in 1964 by the current structure on Tyler Road, is recognized as a Michigan landmark by the state Historical Society.

The original township hall, located at Main and Fourth streets, township, provides office space for the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, The Belleville Enterprise and Adventure Travel. Plans to restore the former Grange Society portion of the hall into a community meeting room are being undertaken by the Van Buren Township Board. Growth of the township has been tied to three major events, according to historians. Those events began with the coming of the railroad to Denton in 1838 and to Belleville in 1881, followed by the formation of Belleville Lake in 1926, and the construction of the I-94 Expressway during World War II to link the Detroit area to the Willow Run complex. The village of Belleville, located on the bank of the Huron River, was platted in 1848, and experienced its first "business boom" in 1881 when the first Wabash railroad train pulled into town. In 1905, Belleville was incorporated as a village. The village, with a population of 300, had board sidewalks, wooden store fronts, two hotels, a school house and hitching posts for horses.

Enterprise celebrates 105 years of service

Founded 105 years ago this month, the Belleville Enterprise is observing the event with an open house celebration between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m. today.

The event, staged at the downtown Belleville office of the community newspaper, also will serve as the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce

After Hours event.

The Enterprise was first published by Roscoe C. Begole and A.E. Smith on March 10, 1886. Two years later, Smith bought out his partner and took control of the newspaper.

In 1925, the newspaper was taken over by Frank Ames of Wayne, who published The En- terprise, Romulus Roman and New Boston Banner. In 1927, Ames consolidated his business with Paul C. Robinson, also of Wayne, as the Amers-Robinson Publishing Co. Twenty years later, the newspapers were purchased by Ray Clift, who later formed Associated Newspaper with Lewis Robson. Wes Willett, the father of the current owner, bought into the firm when Robson sold his interest in the community newspapers.

In November 1990, Associated Newspapers, Inc. began publishing the Sunday Eagle & Enterprise, making the six newspapers twice-weekly publications.

Meredith Wilson's popular play, Music Man, is slated to be the 11th musical presented at Belleville High School.

Some 60 actors and actors, a 28-piece pit orchestra and a 20-member set crew will stage the play on April 25, 26, 27 and May 3 and 4.

ANNIVERSARY

Since 1886, when A.E. Smith and Roscoe C. Begole first published the Belleville Enterprise, the community newspaper has been proud to serve the citizens of Van Buren Township, Belleville and Sumpter Township.

For more than a century, the Belleville Enterprise has been preserving the day-to-day history of the Belleville area in its weekly editions, relating the highlights of the daily lives of area residents and recording the stories about local businesses, clubs, organizations, religious groups and schools.

It is our goal to continue the standards set by the A.E. Smith, who was lauded for his contributions to the community in Samuel Robbe's A History of Van Buren Township. The author wrote, "for 37 years, Mr. Smith edited one of the cleanest papers in the state."

We pledge to continue to live up to the highest standards of journalism as we report the news of the community through our coverage of the official actions of the councils and boards. We also pledge to continue to bring a diversity of news articles and feature stories to cover all aspects of daily life in our coverage area - just as A.E. Smith, Roscoe C. Begole, Frank Ames, Paul C. Robinson, Ray Clift, Lewis Robson and Wes Willett did to the best of their abilities since the newspaper was founded on March 10, 1886.

Too late to talk now

Inkster councilmembers should have looked before they leaped into a new law restricting the number of days the Department of Social Services could house clients in local motels.

Sure, Inkster shouldn't get stuck with all the DSS clients. And sure, these transients sometimes get into trouble perpetuating the problems of Inkster.

Someone, however, should have checked with the hotel and motel owners of Inkster and negotiated a deal with DSS before a law was placed on the books stating that these individuals could stay no longer than 30 days in Inkster motels and hotels.

Councilmembers and other city leaders learned recently that the DSS was using the establishments along Michigan Avenue in Inkster as temporary housing for transients. The temporary housing concept was being lost, however, on the fact that some of these tenants had been living in the hotels for months, even years.

They paid their rent, however, through the generosity of the DSS, thus giving the business people of Inkster a healthy, regular income.

It may not be the right thing to do. Settling these transients in hotels and motels without a stable environment, and with no prospects for permanent housing. But, it was the only place for them at the time.

Now even that option is gone.

Inkster councilmembers quickly adopted a new law restricting the time these individuals could stay in local motels and hotels.

Owners of these establishments were not consulted, DSS officials were not called in to discuss the matter.

It's a matter of wham, bam -- they are out of here -- thanks to the efforts of the Inkster City Council.

So, in the next few days, dozens of transients will be out on the streets, and local hotels and motels will lose a great deal of their business.

The business owners are riled, and the DSS is concerned.

Maybe some discussion would have been in order on this one?

School millage deserves support

On March 13 voters in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools District will once again go to the polls to determine the fate of the district and its students.

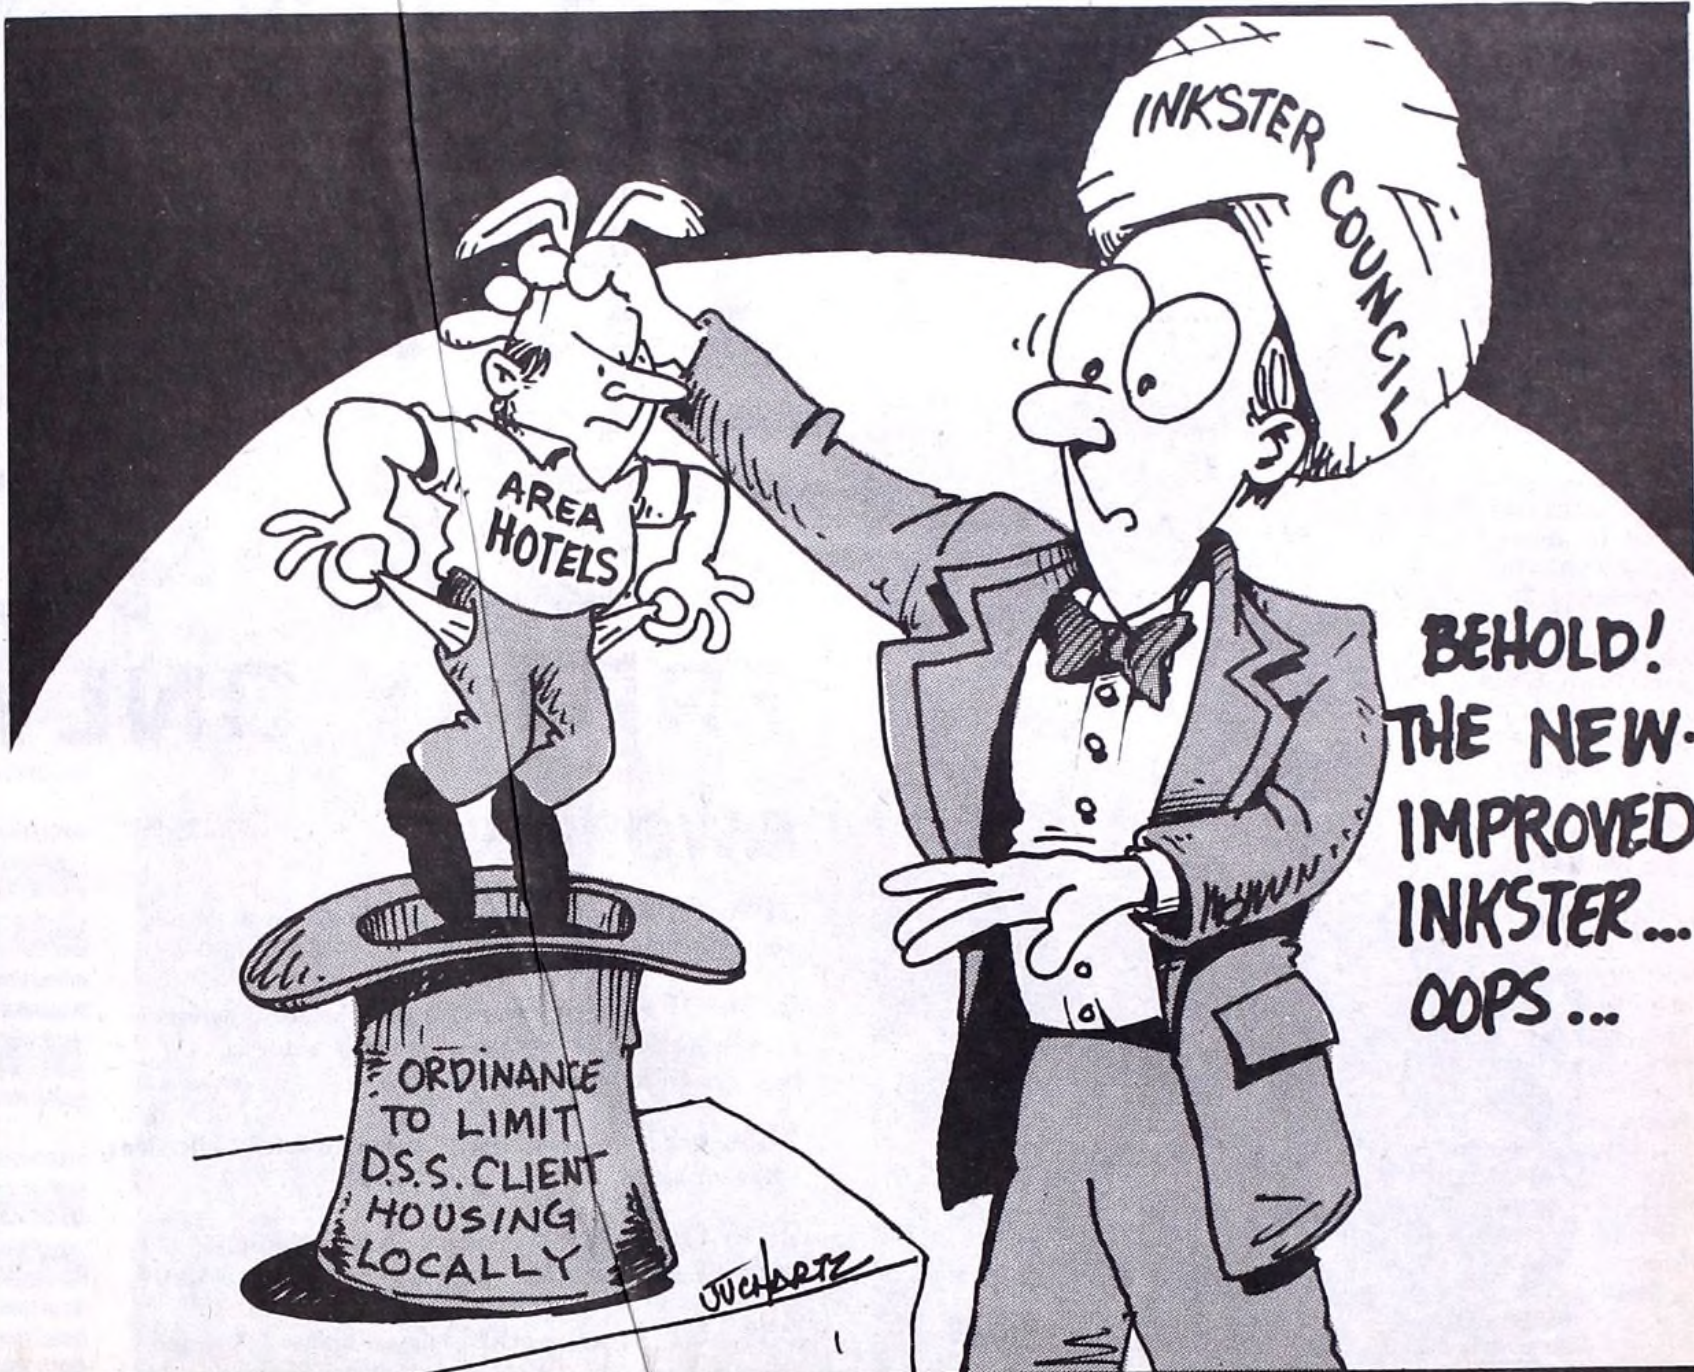

The proposed millage increase should not be considered a tool for punishing the school board or the officials who we disagree with from time to time, or even the state legislators who have failed to properly fund education over the years.

Rather, the proposal should be accepted for what it is -- a means for offering students on Wayne, Westland, Inkster and parts of Canton Township with the type of education they deserve.

Approval of the millage increase will mean the restoration of many of the school programs which were cut at the beginning of the current school year, and will mean an early end to cuts suggested for the start of the next school year.

Vote yes on the school millage, and call it a vote of confidence for our children's future.

Watch for more news of the Wayne-Westland school millage in the Sunday Eagle & Enterprise.

Millage will affect students

I am a sophomore at John Glenn High School. I am a member of the symphony orchestra and a 4.0 student. The upcoming millage election is going to play an important part in my last two years of high school. If the millage is voted down by the voters, the other students and I are going to suffer tremendously.

The high school day will be cut from six hours down the five. This will mean a loss of two full credits for current sophomores, one full credit for juniors, and those that are now in the junior highs will lose three or four (one full credit per year). If this happens, John Glenn will most likely lose its accreditation. Most universities and colleges will accept a graduate from an accredited high school over a graduate from a non-accredited high school. If it comes down to me and someone else, I lose out on an education and possibly a better future. A future is not something to be left to chance.

One of the things that will get cut is the fine arts. Hundreds of students in both the high schools and junior highs will lose out. Instrumental music and choir are great experiences. The elementary school children will lose all of the music, art and gym that they are left with. They allow kids to relax during the day. Without them, life will be that more boring and plain. Children need the release.

In addition, all sports and extracurricular activities will stop. This means no football, no basketball, no cheerleading, no ski club, no anything! The loss of these things will affect at least two-third of the students in the district.

So I ask: Are a few hundred dollars in taxes worth your child's childhood?

Name withheld on request
Westland resident

Best reason is the kids

Well, it's upon us again. They're asking for another millage in the Wayne-Westland School District.

In the past, some of the board members said the reason the millage did not pass was that people did not know the complexity of operating a school system.

Some of the voters said it was because we are already over-taxed, or "I don't have any kids in school" shy should I pay for some other person's kid to go to school.

After talking to several of my friends, it's apparent to me that most people are disenchanted with the school board in general and are voting against the millage to get even with the way the board is administrating our tax dollars.

In my opinion the most important reason to vote for the school millage would be the kids themselves.

The passage of the millage would provide restoration of extracurricular activities on all levels. It would assure the restoration of the full school day, provide the purchase of up-to-date textbooks so our students may keep pace with the most modern learning aids available. It would also insure our accreditation.

As far as being world of the inner workings of the school system, and not needing to know the nuts and bolts of the operation, they are correct. What we need to know is what the school system is doing to improve our students academically. As to what someone is paid, whether it's an administrator, teacher, school board member, is irrelevant, even if the millage fails, these people will still have to be paid and again, the loser will be our students. The money will be taken away from them again to pay for the salaries.

What we have to remember, is our school system is not building widgets, it's molding the minds and bodies of our kids and future leaders of the communities.

The approximate $240 per year is a low price to pay when you consider the possible decrease in property values that may result if the school system loses its accreditation.

In closing, the situation we're in falls on the shoulders of the school board and the voters. The school board for a very poor public relations department. For those disenchanted voters who do not like the school board, remember, you put them in office, not the students of this district who have to pay the price for your mistakes.

I urge you to vote yes for the millage on behalf of the students and the community and I urge you to deal with the school board by attending school board meetings, contacting the state school board with your differences, electing new school board members, but not by destroying our school system at its base -- our students.

Dreams could be shattered

My name is Michelle Molitor and I am 14 years old. I attend Stevenson Junior High School. My grades are fairly high and after graduation I wish to go to the Air Force. My dream is to one day become an astronaut. My dream may be shattered if the millage doesn't pass. Without enough hours, I don't have enough credits. Without enough credits, I am not able to graduate. Without graduating I have absolutely no hopes of pursuing my dream. Please I hope my letter makes a difference.

Rematch brewing Belleville, Romulus cagers clear 1st-round district opponents

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville and Romulus cleared their first-round obstacles and may be heading for a showdown in the Class A district basketball championship.

Romulus knocked off Taylor Kennedy 79-54 Tuesday night, about 24-hours before Belleville destroyed Taylor Truman 65-45.

Although Coach Chris Molloy

and the Eagles will advance to the finals, Belleville must get past Southgate Anderson in order to challenge the defending district champion for title rights.

However, Belleville isn't expected to have any problems with Anderson, a team it has twice handily defeated during the Wolverine 'A' Conference campaign this season.

If the Tigers and Coach Michael Garland survive, they will have to contend with a Romulus team they have never beaten in district play.

The championship will be staged 7 p.m. Friday at Belleville High.

Romulus had problems shaking Kennedy from its heels in the first half. The Eagles led by a basket 13-11 after one period and held a precarious 23-22 lead at halftime.

Then Abu Hamilton and Torrey Mills came alive. Hamilton struck for nine of his 24 points and Mills tossed in 10 of his 14 to spark a 22-9 Romulus rally in the third period that gave the Eagles a 15-point cushion (56-41) heading into the final frame.

Romulus also outscored its rival in the last period 24-13.

Hamilton and Kennedy star Gerald Daniels, who had 24 points, shared individual scoring honors. Mills finished with 14 and teammate John Dinkins counted 10. Taylor also placed Scott Martinez in double scoring figures. He had 18.

Linton Macklin fired in three successive three pointers in the second period to awaken a spellbound and shaky Belleville, which trailed Truman 13-7 after the first period.

When the smoke cleared from Macklin's long-range shooting and with the help of 6-6 center Derrick Boles' 10 points, Belleville had a commanding 37-21 lead at halftime. They never looked back as Garland gave his bench ample playing time.

Belleville hit a horrendous two of 21 shots in the first eight minutes, and Garland said he hoped "we got it out of our system."

"We can't afford to shoot like that if we expect to win," he said.

Boles wound up with a game-high 17 points, while Macklin settled for 10 points. Dave Dietz had 14 points for Truman.

Inkster cagers survive as Crestwood slows down

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It took 16 points from forward Claude McReynolds and a lot of patience from Inkster to survive the slow-down tactics of Dearborn Heights Crestwood Tuesday night in the first round of the Class B district playoffs at Robichaud.

Crestwood, playing a cat-and-mouse game, finally caved in as Inkster surfaced with a low-scoring 49-39 victory.

The victory moved Coach George Thompson Jr. and the Vikings into the semifinals. Inkster will play Dearborn Heights Crestwood at 7 p.m. today.

The championship game is slated for 7 p.m. Saturday.

Thompson criticized the defense, stressing it "was erratic and sloppy in spots."

"Annapolis is going to be tough if we don't play the big D," Thompson said. "We can do it, I know these kids can."

McReynolds tossed in five of his 16 points in the first period and Julian Flint and Thalmus Martin each chipped in four to stake the Vikings to a 15-10 lead.

Crestwood decided to "hang on" to the ball the next eight minutes, resulting in a low-scoring 10-8 Viking advantage.

Inkster built on its 25-18 halftime edge with a 13-4 advantage in the third period. Trailing by 11 going into the final eight minutes, the Chargers decided to quicken the tempo. It didn't help their cause. The closest they came was seven points.

McReynolds was the only Inkster player in double figures, while Chris Williams sank 16 points for the Chargers, who canned five of 12 free throws. Inkster capitalized on seven of 11 from the foul line.

Divine Child cuts Robichaud

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Dearborn Divine Child burst the Robichaud cagers' bubble Monday night in the first round of the Class B district basketball playoffs.

And the Falcons did it the hard way, on the Bulldogs' home court.

Despite some heroics from versatile athlete Tyrone Wheatley, who led the Bulldog assault, Robichaud couldn't muster enough scoring power to stop the Dearborn cagers.

Robichaud stayed close all the way, but never could get their backs away from the wall. They trailed 20-18 at halftime.

D.C. got some exceptional performances from Rob Valentino and Jim Solak, who accounted for almost half of the Falcons' points. Valentino finished with 16 and Solak added 13.

However, Wheatley topped all scorers with 19.

Divine Child advanced to the semifinal round, where the Falcons were scheduled to play Willow Run last night. Willow Run drew a first-round bye.

The winner will meet the survivor of the Inkster/Dearborn Heights game at 7 p.m. Saturday to decide which team is worthy of the district crown.

Wayne spikers capture crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne Memorial, which boasted at least two Class A state women's volleyball teams in the past, captured the district championship Saturday at Romulus by beating the host in two sets.

Coach Anne Kolnity's Zebras turned back the Eagles 15-3 in their opening game, then carved out a 15-9 decision to claim the title.

The victory was the Zebras' ticket to the regional playoffs. The regionals will be decided on Saturday at Wayne.

"Wayne has an excellent team," Romulus Coach Gail Coleman said. "We wish them all the luck in the world."

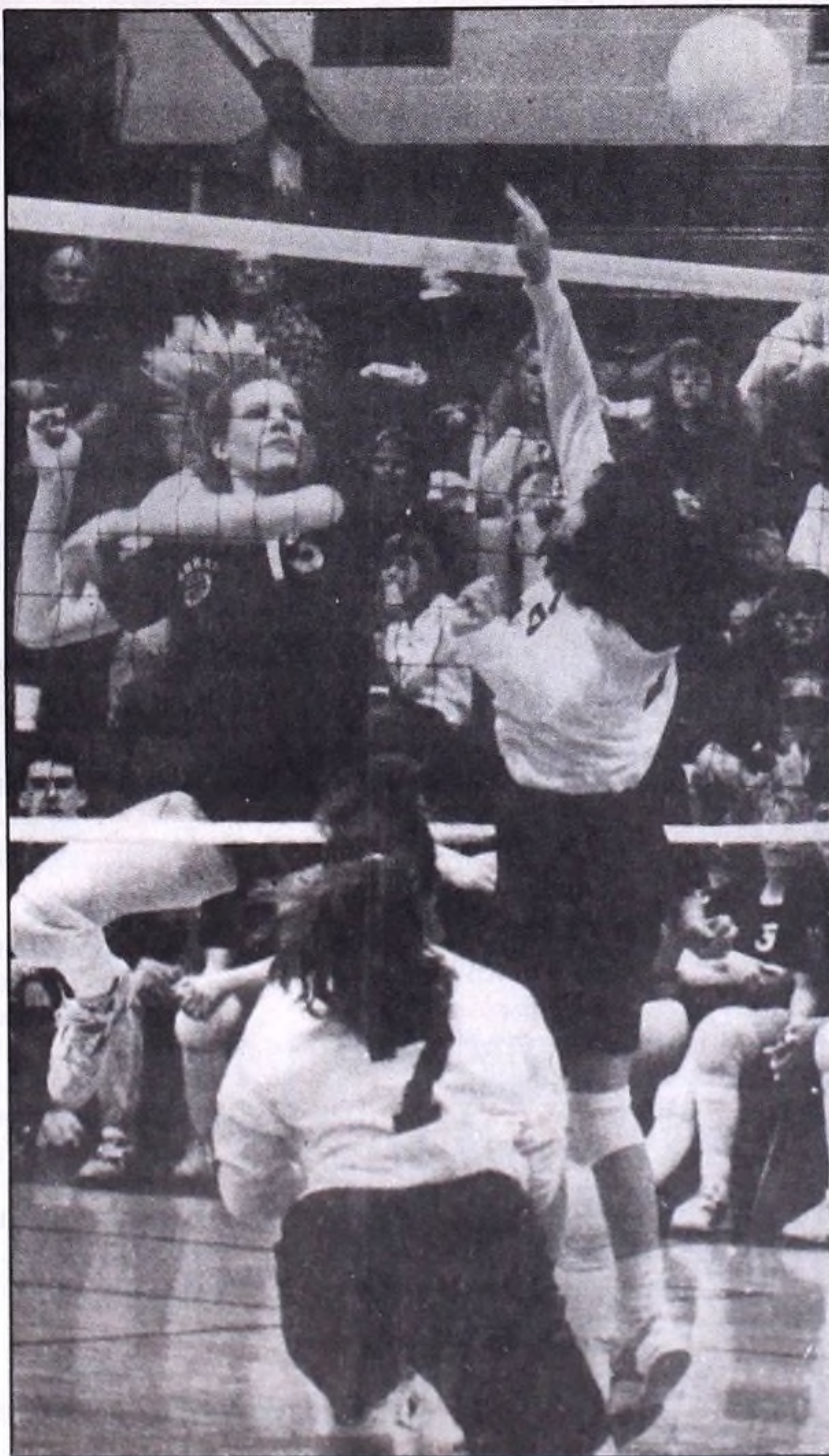

Romulus made the Zebras work for every point. Brandy Caincross displayed outstanding striking power in leading Wayne to the key victory.

"Their offense outlasted our defense," Coleman said.

Wayne reached the finals by eliminating rival Westland John Glenn in the opening round 15-5 and 15-3. The Zebras destroyed Belleville 15-2 and 15-3 in the semis.

Caincross was unstoppable. In the finals, she came up with seven kills. Teammate Gerri Ruffing had four kills as did Katie Corwin. Defensively, Denise Walsh and Ruffing played exceptionally well, and setter Laurie Fisher "was great," according to Kolnity.

Belleville is no match

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The 1990-91 high school wrestling season came to an abrupt halt for Coach Gerald Malecek and the Belleville Tigers in the quarterfinals of the Class A state team championship.

Top-ranked and undefeated Bedford-Temperance made short work of the Tigers. The Mules overpowered their opponents 62-3 to qualify for the state semifinals. However, the Temperance title express was derailed by a stubborn Clarkson team that upset the Mules in the finals.

Belleville finished the season with an enviable 17-3 record.

The Tigers also captured the Wolverine 'A' Conference, district and regional titles.

"Overall, it has been a good year for us," Malecek said. "These kids can be very proud of their achievements."

Steve Davis, who wrestled up in the 130-pound class in the team phase of the championship after seeking the individual state title at 125, saved the Tigers from the shutout by winning a 10-8 decision over Dave Wiefelt.

Robichaud all-stater ends playing days at Saginaw Wayne

By TERRY LYNCH
ANP Special Writer

To most people, making adjustments can be difficult. To former Robichaud basketball all-stater LaRonda Murphy, it has been a way of life, both on the court and off.

Murphy ended her playing days last week, completing her senior year at Saginaw Valley State University.

While Murphy, a business major, summarized her final season as "semi-successful," her family considers that a bit of an understatement.

Especially considering her final season began under a cloud of medical complications which threatened more than her ability to play basketball.

The start of Murphy's senior year brought news from her doctor that she could no longer play basketball. She had been diagnosed as having an irregular heartbeat, and her coach, Claudette Charney, would not

I had a great time. The coach let me play pretty loose and I could take a lot of shots.

— LaRonda Murphy athlete

gambled with her health.

Make no mistake, Charney was not giving up on a bench warmer. Murphy was one of only three seniors. Her role this year was so important she was red-shirted for the 1989-1990 season so she could use her last year of eligibility as a team leader.

This was a role quite familiar to Murphy.

She captained her high school team at Robichaud in both her junior and senior years. Along the way, she established school records for most points, most points in one game, most rebounds and highest points per game average. She earned all-league and all-city honors as a senior.

Of those days, Murphy said: "I had a great time. The coach let me play pretty loose and I could take a lot of shots."

Murphy took her basketball skills next to Henry Ford Community College.

There, Murphy earned all-league, all-state and all-region honors as both a freshman and sophomore. She also assumed a leadership role as team captain.

When Murphy transferred to Saginaw for the 1988-89 season, she was called upon to make an adjustment. Through high school and junior college, she had always been a front-line, offensive-minded player. But the Saginaw frontline was set with returning seniors. Murphy was called upon to improve her defensive skills in order to contribute where the team needed her most.

No problem. Murphy showed she was a team-player.

As a junior, she played in 29 games and started in five. She averaged only four points a game, but she improved her rebounding and interior play.

Her coach again called on her to adjust her role for the 1989-90 season. Murphy was asked to save her last year of college eligibility for 1990-91.

Again, no problem. She would sit out that season in order to be a team leader in 1991. But it wouldn't be quite that simple.

"The doctor told the coach that I shouldn't play. I was very disappointed because I was ready to get back on the court," Murphy said.

It took half of the season for her test results to be analyzed. In the wake of the sudden death of Loyola Marymount superstar Hank Gathers, no chances would be taken.

But just in time for the mid-season tournament at North Dakota State, it was determined that Murphy had a heart murmur. Although it would be something to watch, it wasn't something that would keep her from playing the game she loved. She returned with a vengeance.

In her first game back, Murphy scored nine points and led her team with seven rebounds.

"I played my best game of the year. It felt so good to be back with the team playing ball," she said.

She continued to play with intensity for the rest of the season, even though the school finished a disappointing fifth in the conference with a record of 7-9.

Although she's played her last game, she isn't through with basketball. Coach Charney has asked Murphy back next year to adjust to another new role, that of coaching assistant. She will continue to play a leadership role with the team, while earning the last few credits she needs for her business degree.

conference record and are 39-5 on the season.

Romulus qualified for the championship by defeating Garden City in three games. The Eagles dropped the opener 15-8, then bounced back the second game 15-7. The third and decisive match went into the Romulus win column 15-11.

Michele Scarrow had an outstanding series, contributing 10 points against Garden City. She also had five kills.

Jenny McClure and Angie Slawinski each had 10 service points, while Romulus came up with 78 digs for the playoffs.

The Eagles finished the 1990-91 campaign with a 34-13 record.

"I felt we had a great season and I am pleased with our success," Coleman said.

Local man makes sport of hunting bear

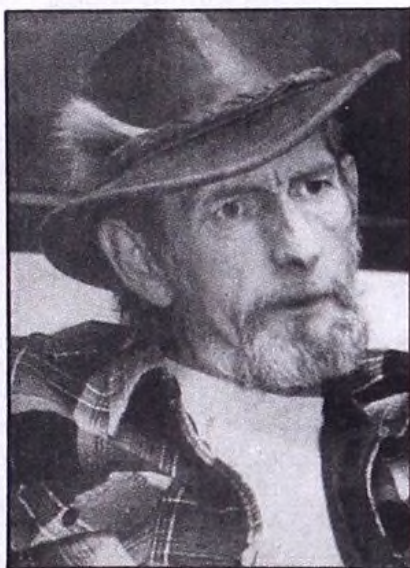

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Although black bears may look like big cuddly animals in the circus, they are really becoming a nuisance in the Upper Peninsula.

And there's a slight possibility they may be heading to cities such as Wayne, according to at least one Wayne resident.

Don Bonafield, owner of UP Smoke Fish on Michigan Avenue in Wayne, is the only year-round tour guide who assists hunters interested in black bears in the UP. Bonafield has a real concern about the number of black bears growing up north because the animals are no longer going to the dumps to feed. The dumps are being removed by state officials, according to Bonafield. Black bears are now heading toward civilian areas to find food.

"There is no food up north,"

Don Bonafield

Bonafield said. "Up north, no dumps are allowed anywhere. Hunters haven't hurt the animal, it's people. Eventually, these bears will be down here."

Bonafield has been black-bear hunting since he was a child. He said he remembers a bear trying to get into his house when his family was living up north.

"I was 5 or 6 at the time when a bear was trying to get into the back of the house," Bonafield said. "From that day, my grandfather and my father would take me bear hunting."

The black bear is being forced out of the wooded areas by man, according to Bonafield. Hundreds of trees a day are being taken, not selected, in the UP for manufacturing.

State officials changed the bear hunting licensing rules last year, dropping the number of bear hunting licenses in Michigan from 12,000 to 4,000, according to Bonafield. State officials now follow a lottery process to hand out bear hunting licenses.

"There are 70,000 deer hunters in Michigan and only 4,000 bear hunters," Bona-field said. "The bear is more likely to have three cubs a year versus the deer, which has one a year and maybe two the next. There just aren't enough bear hunters."

When Bonafield takes a group bear hunting, he usually has 50 hunters at one time. The experienced hunters will let the young cubs pass and wait for the older bears, which can weigh up to 500 pounds, Bonafield said.

The Wayne resident doesn't use a gun to kill the black bear. He uses a knife.

"You can't use your gun after shooting hours, which is when night comes," Bonafield said. "I go out at night after the bears that had been fired upon. Sometimes I have to find the bear that may have been shot in the arm and track him down so he doesn't suffer."

Bonafield recommends state officials put back the dumps to feed the black bears so the animals don't head toward the city. He said he understands the importance of recycling, and would like the food thrown out to be placed in the dump and for the state to increase the number of bear hunting licenses.

Don't let winter get you down.
You've got SPRING right in your hands.

It's true. This is a SPRING newspaper.

And the SPRING network is making this winter a lot more enjoyable for a growing number of Detroit advertisers.

SPRING (The Suburban Press RING) is the 50 Detroit suburban newspapers published by the Adams, Associated, Heritage, Observer & Eccentric, and Hometown groups, which together deliver advertisers a single, extremely effective way to reach as many as 728,812 households in Detroit's affluent suburbs.

That is approximately twice as many as you can reach in the daily Free Press, and more than twice the number you can reach in The News.

Best of all is the price—

SPRING's rate for inserts is just $23 per thousand, regardless of size (approximately half the published CPMs of the DNA and ADVO), and our ROP CPMs are lower, too.

And you place just one order, deal with one rep, provide one set of ROP copy or art, and get one invoice.

Look at us this way: we offer you an honest-to-goodness way to get more for less.

Or this way: we can help you turn winter into SPRING.
